

1789

A report to Congress titled "An Account of the Depredations Committed in the District of Kentucky by the Indians since the first of May 1789" listed the following incidences:

Jefferson County: On Floyd's fork, two men killed, near the same time and place two persons were killed and three were taken prisoner. On July 17, Chinoweth's station was attacked by an number of Indians who entered the Chinweth house, while the family was at supper. Three of the Chinoweth family were killed and seven wounded. Three of the wounded have since died, and the others are in serious condition. The Indians plundered the house of everything they could carry away. Also at this station, before the major attack, one man was killed and one wounded. The county has also seen mor than 20 horses stolen.

Nelson County: two men killed and two wounded, and more than 20 horses stolen

Lincoln County: one man and one child killed and more than 20 horses stolen.

Madison County: On June 1, Indians broke into the house of Edmond Stephenson, and wounded one person. A number of horses had been stolen from this county.

Bourbon County: two men badly wounded and about 15 horses stolen.

Mason County: two men killed and 41 horses stolen.

Woodford County: One boy killed and several horses stolen.